PA NEW OBSERVES

Weather conditions of the past few weeks have played havoc with the paving on some streets of the city. Some sections of Highland avenue inside the car tracks resemble ocean waves, while a number of similar conditions are to be noted even on the public square.

One of Pa New's boys heard the cheery whistle of a cardinal in the thicket west of the Jameson Memorial hospital, the first harbinger of spring. A few bright sunny days like that have been experienced this week, and many of the early birds will be winging their way northward.

New Castle citizens should share in the efforts of police and firemen to apprehend any person who turns in a false fire alarm. This is one thing that cannot be permitted to continue. Fire alarm boxes are for use in case of need, but there can be no toleration of any "monkey business" in connection with turning in fire alarms. If some misguided youths think they are doing something "smart," or if older persons with a perverted idea of common sense are responsible for the recent outbreak of false alarms they should realize at once that there is no leniency due when they are apprehended. In the meantime, residents in the vicinity of fire alarm boxes should keep an eye on them, to see who is turning in alarms.

Owen Fox, city forester, reports he received a call a week ago from Mrs. C. W. Cameron, 320 East Fairmount avenue, that she had seen the first robin of the season. Particular notice should be paid to the robin's appearance at this time. If they have a big round breast, that is clean and bright, they are the first birds to migrate here from the far south, and if the first robin seen has dark and dirty undeveloped breast, you will know it has wintered here, in some nearby protected spot. Mr. Fox states that the robin Mrs. Cameron saw, was nice full breasted, and sang a song "like marbles rolling down the steps."

Administration Will Battle To Limit Against Ban On Second A. E. F.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The administration girded itself today for an "all out" battle in the senate to kill the proposed Ellender amendment to the leasehold bill, designed to ban a second A. E. F., on the ground that Japan and other nations might interpret it as a surrender of freedom of the seas, particularly in the Pacific.

This was made plain by Senator George (D) Ga., chairman of the powerful foreign relations committee, as senate leaders prepared to "put on the heat" to force a vote on the British aid bill next week.

Developments

1. First concession since senate floor battle indicated by administration leaders in probable acceptance of Lucas amendment providing for consultation between President Roosevelt and both Democratic and Republican congressional leaders.
2. Sen. Nye (R) N. D., foe of the bill, charged supporters of the measure with avoiding real debate on the issue in the senate.
3. George charged foes with "stalling", and said that they will be resorting to filibuster if they refuse to permit a vote next mid-week.

NAIROBI, Feb. 26.—Capture of Mogadiscio, capital of Italian Somaliland, was announced in a British communique today.

The announcement said advanced elements of east and west African troops occupied Mogadiscio yesterday evening.

The Italian Somaliland capital, now held by the British, is one of the key centers of the Italian East African domain.

It was the springboard from which Marshal Rodolfo Graziani began his drive through Ethiopia to Addis Ababa five years ago.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, commander of Italy's north African forces, has been under house arrest in Rome since January, the London Daily Telegraph reported today.

According to news reaching Lisbon, the paper said, Graziani was arrested after making a dramatic speech before the Italian supreme war council disclaiming responsibility of Fascist defeats in Libya.

Railroads Vital For Successful Balkan Assault

One of the major problems of any German attack on Greece and the Near East through the Balkans is shown in the above Central Press map of the railroads in that area. There is one major line, the Berlin-Bagdad railroad, which runs through Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade, Sofia, Istanbul and on into Turkey. Other railroads are scattered and restrict the possible avenues of advance that a German army could use in attacking Greece, only one line extending from the Berlin-Bagdad in Yugoslavia to Salonika, important Greek seaport and probable primary objective of an attacking army.

Dorothy James Visits Hollywood

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 26.—Dorothy James, chic 25-year-old daughter of Gov. Arthur James of Pennsylvania, was seeing the sights of Hollywood today after being greeted affectionately by a young man whose business-like hug hinted strongly at romance.

Miss James was met on her arrival from the east by William Lundigan, screen actor, who was her house guest in the Pennsylvania executive mansion last December.

Despite the warm welcome from Lundigan, Miss James said she was not engaged to the actor, but didn't say that an engagement might not materialize during her stay in Hollywood.

She and Lundigan, she said, have been friends since they were students at Syracuse University.

Fire Alarm Box Sticks; Calls Out Many Firemen

All but one of New Castle's fire departments hurried to the scene of an east side fire, Tuesday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock—all because fire alarm box 515 stuck and kept ringing.

The first call brought firemen to a welding school at 522 Taylor street where a blaze broke out on the second floor and started to spread toward the roof.

While firemen were gaining control of the blaze, more companies arrived. Still later, the remaining departments arrived, with the exception of No. 7.

Firemen were forced to break the box to cut off the continuous ringing.

The school, operated by W. F. Thellman, suffered a loss of about $500. The fire damaged refrigerators, a washing machine and other equipment stored on the floor. The loss is covered by insurance.

Firemen were unable to discover the cause of the fire.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—A great running battle between German U-boats and British warships—apparently the starting gun in Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's submarine campaign aimed at "occupation" instead of mere invasion of England—was described by the German high command today.

The battle occurred between Sunday noon and Monday night. When it was over, according to the German statement, 192,300 tons of enemy merchant ships, including an auxiliary cruiser, had been sunk.

Later German victories raised this figure to more than 250,000 tons, it was said, with naval vessels included. And today, military headquarters announced that three additional merchant ships totaling 21,000 tons had been bombed and sunk by the luftwaffe northwest of Ireland.

HITLER SEEKS TO STARVE ENGLAND

Intensified Bombing Attacks On Great Britain Are Now Anticipated

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, Feb. 26.—A German invasion of Britain will be attempted sometime during the next few months, according to the opinion of high military circles in London today.

But it also is the considered view of an increasing number of experts that the invasion attempt will not come until Germany has tightened its economic blockade around Britain so severely that great hardship has become widespread throughout the country.

Chancellor Hitler, in the opinion of these experts, is determined, if he can, to bring the same starvation conditions to Britain as Germany experienced in the closing stages of the World War in 1918. It is recalled that in commenting on conditions in Germany at that time, Hitler in his writings and speeches has used his most bitter adjectives.

Expect Greater Attacks

All signs are that the German campaign against British and Allied shipping from now on will be prosecuted with energy and boldness under the sea and from the air.

This probably will be accompanied by super-bombing attacks on British factories, ports and communications. German strategy is pictured as feeling that this "softening" process, along with possible hardships to the British population, will render an invasion attempt easier and counteract numerous strategical difficulties which even the Germans admit stand in the way of an invasion.

The idea that invasion threats are pure bluff, designed to make Britain spend billions of pounds sterling and to divert valuable material and labor to defensive works, has been examined frequently by British experts.

Chicago Firemen Battle Bad Blaze

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—A fire raged out of control in Chicago's busy loop district today and was fought by almost one-fourth the city's fire equipment.

Flames whipped through all five floors of a building housing the Geisler Office Furniture Co. at 168 W. Lake street, spread to the premises of a paint company next door and threatened for a time to leap across an alley to a building which houses the Board of Education.

Traffic on all elevated lines leading into the loop was halted when fire officials ordered current in the third rail shut off as a precautionary measure. This played havoc with rush hour crowds.

Cause of the fire was not immediately known. No injuries were reported.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Great Britain expects Germany to launch within the next sixty days the greatest air, sea and land offensive the world has ever witnessed, informed quarters said today.

The British are convinced that Adolf Hitler is about ready to strike and that when he does so, the German offensive may be launched on nearly half a dozen different fronts at the same time.

It is considered highly probable by the British government that simultaneous attacks will be launched against the British Isles, Ireland, Iceland, Gibraltar, Greece and British positions in Africa.

The British expect Hitler to launch the offensive on as many fronts as possible in order to have some victory to offer the German people in case the invasion attempt on England fails. That an invasion attempt will be made is regarded as a virtual certainty by the British government.

Wants Some "Cover Up"

If it should fail, as the British are confident it will, it is felt in London that Hitler will have to have something available to cover up that failure. If he achieves victory on any one of the other fronts, such as in the Balkans, the British (Continued On Page Two)

Relief Payments Not To Be Halted

Compromise In State Assembly

Action Taken On Deficiency Appropriation To Meet Present Emergency

FURTHER BATTLE SEEN ON RELIEF

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Feb. 26.—In order to prevent the halting of payments to more than 650,000 persons on relief, Republicans and Democrats in the legislature agreed today to forward to the governor today for his approval a compromise deficiency relief measure.

The $14,500,000 being appropriated will permit the state department of public assistance to issue its weekly relief checks without delay. The $193,000,000 appropriated by the last legislature will be exhausted this week.

Compromise Accepted
The Republican senate, after refusing to accept a Democratic house amendment stripping Gov. Arthur H. James of his authority to allocate funds to State Treasurer F. Clair Ross for disbursing the relief funds, accepted a compromise amendment calling for the direct allocation of $180,000 to the state treasurer.

The compromise was affected at a meeting of Republican and Democratic leaders of the house and senate. Governor James was represented by his budget secretary, Dr. Edward B. Logan.

Neither side wished to be blamed for holding up relief payments, but the Democrats made it clear that this was only a temporary arrangement affecting relief for the remaining three months of the biennium.

A full-fledged battle is expected later when the Democrats insert their original amendment into the $193,000,000 relief budget for the next biennium. This amendment vests the authority to allocate money to the state treasurer and auditor general for the disbursing and auditing of funds in the hands of these two officials and the governor, instead of the chief executive alone.

Night Attack Also
The new sweep followed last night's R. A. F. bombing attacks on industrial targets in the German Rhineland and invasion ports along the continental coastline, which were announced by the air ministry.

Brilliant sunshine prevailed as the Germans renewed their daylight attacks after carrying out relatively light attacks, directed chiefly against points in eastern England, during the night.

Bombs were dropped on a number of places in East Anglia, the common-wealth stated, and a few points elsewhere were bombed, but little damage and few casualties resulted.

British night fighter patrols destroyed one German bomber which crashed a few miles east of Sudbury. Members of its crew were injured and placed in a hospital.

ADMINISTRATION TO BATTLE AGAINST BAN ON SECOND A. E. F.

British orders will be fulfilled in 30 to 40 days and unless bill is promptly passed the British aid program will be stymied.

S. Sens. Chavez (D) N. M., and Holman (R) Ore., who have been classed as doubtful, announced opposition to bill in present form.

Strongest Card
The amendment of Sen. Ellender (D) Ala., which says that nothing in the bill shall be construed as authorizing sending of men outside the western hemisphere, was labeled by Majority Leader Barkley as the strongest card of the opposition.

Both President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull, it was learned, oppose it. "We have no quarrel with the statement that the bill does not authorize sending of any military force to foreign countries," George said. "The bill does not deal with that subject."

"If the amendment, however, should be misinterpreted to the effect that we propose to abandon freedom of the seas it might lead us directly into war. The amendment might bring the danger of war, which we seek to avoid."

Acceptance of the Lucas amendment, which creates a committee of Democratic and Republican congressional leaders and chairmen of foreign affairs and relations committees, to consult with Mr. Roosevelt on British aid at his pleasure, was indicated by George.

It is a committee through which information could be transmitted, I see no objection to it," he said.

Deny Filibuster Plan
With opposition leaders denying any intention of filibustering—yet insisting on full debate and declaring that they could beat the bill if it were debated 30 days—George gave notice that he will press for a vote.

"It looks to me as if the opposition doesn't want a vote," he said. "They are stalling. If there is any disposition of carry debate beyond the middle of next week, I will recognize that a filibuster exists."

George also warned that speed is essential. He said that many British orders will be filled within 30 to 40 days.

Nye, Chavez and Holman debate the bill today with Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., planning to speak tomorrow.

"I think this is the most curious debate I have ever witnessed or participated in during my 15 years of service in this body," said Nye. "It is the most curious debate because it is really no debate at all. The issues are not being discussed with that fullness, that candor, that searching quality which only honest debate can provide."

southern Dobruja. The crossing began at midnight. Efforts to obtain contact with Sofia by telephone from Berlin were fruitless. Authorities said that telephone service at Sofia was "disturbed." At the same time, the German propaganda ministry said "nothing is known" of any German invasion of Bulgaria.

Three German troop trains were reported to have left Vidin in the direction of Sofia.

Expect 120,000 To Enter
It was believed that altogether 120,000 German troops will march into Bulgaria over various border points from Rumania.

Yesterday King Boris of Bulgaria candidly admitted his country could not resist in case the Germans decided to enter his kingdom.

But he told leaders of opposition political parties that he would strive to keep Bulgaria out of war.

Belief prevailed in Belgrade and other Balkan capitals that German occupation of Bulgaria will be completed within a few days.

Prior to the reported German invasion, Bulgaria continued its military preparations. Orders were issued forbidding motor cars to leave Sofia on grounds they might be needed by the army "at any moment."

Berlin Denial
Berlin, Feb. 26.—Authoritative German quarters disclaimed all knowledge today regarding Belgrade reports that German troops have invaded Bulgaria from Rumania.

They also denied previous reports that German forces have been filtering into Bulgaria in the guise of civilians.

Authorities pointed out, however, that a number of British agents have been arrested in Sofia. They declared this indicated Britain was attempting to "sabotage" relations between Bulgaria and the Reich.

NAZI OFFENSIVE IS EXPECTED ON SEVERAL FRONTS

believe he will claim that was the main objective of his offensive and assert the attack on England was merely a feint. Losses suffered in the attack on England will be minimized in Germany and the people will be told their forces have scored another great victory somewhere.

However, the British government believes England will receive the main brunt of the German spring offensive. Britain's leaders foresee the possibility of the German air force sending a vast fleet of as many as 10,000 warplanes over the British Isles at one time in an effort to gain mastery of the air over the Royal Air Force. They also foresee the possibility of Hitler and Mussolini sending 300 to 400 German and Italian submarines into the North Atlantic and the Mediterranean in an attempt to cripple British shipping.

See 'Chute Troop Attempt'
The British also believe the invasion attempt in England will start with the landing of thousands of German parachute troops and probably the use of poison gas. It is considered likely that parachute troops also will be used in any attempt to occupy Ireland or Iceland.

While these operations are underway in the northern theatre of war, the British believe the German army in the Balkans may move through Bulgaria to attack Greece while German dive bombers and parachute troops attack the British in Africa.

Although the German offensive is expected to be terrific at the beginning, the British do not believe Hitler will be able to maintain it in high gear for long. Prime Minister Winston Churchill is known to be placing his hopes on the ability of the British Isles to repulse the invasion attempt. Once the attempt has been repulsed, Churchill believes dissatisfaction with the Nazi regime will develop very rapidly in Germany and the tide of war will turn definitely in favor of Britain.

Officials estimated some 8,000 Italians are residents of Mogadiscio. (EDITOR'S NOTE: British authorities in London said they had no information whether the Italians are putting up resistance to halt the British advance. They said the troops have not yet met resistance "worth talking about," probably because the many hundreds of white and native prisoners taken in previous fighting around Jelb left only a few at liberty to continue fighting.)

Mrs. M. L. Lyon Speaker At Hadassah Thrift Luncheon

"Hadassah has grown from a mere handful of women to a tremendous membership throughout the nation, their progress being made possible through the spirit of willingness to help others. We, as women of the world today, must in such times of strife, fall in line, shoulder to shoulder and aid in relief work for Britain—Our first line of defense."

We must preserve our democracy and guide our children wisely. As individuals, we must share wholeheartedly with leaders in every community in their projects toward British relief. Such was the substance of a most inspiring message given before a throng of women gathered in Tifereth Israel Synagogue Tuesday afternoon, by Mrs. M. L. Lyon, their speaker from Pittsburgh. The occasion marked the seventh annual thrift luncheon for New Castle Chapter of Hadassah, and proved a decided success.

Mrs. Lyon, a magnetic personality, is a leader of Pittsburgh Jewish organizations and this year, is chairman of the Pittsburgh donor luncheon to take place March 31 at the Hotel William Penn. She touched on the national and international picture Hadassah has painted for their child welfare work and youth Aliyah project. She said Hadassah is known as the "Medical Aid" in Palestine for fine hospitalization, and the establishing of numerous welfare health stations and urged their continued support.

Preceding, President Mrs. J. Kulkin made the welcoming remarks and toastmistress, Mrs. Samuel Schwartz carried out her role most capably. Pop singing featured at intervals, the group singing led by Mrs. L. Reinhardt, at the piano, all joined in singing "Shalom Aleichem" and "God Bless America."

Luncheon was served at attractively candlelight tables, the

MATISTE-DAUGHERTY WEDDING IN CHURCH

In St. Mary's church Tuesday morning, a beautiful wedding which attracted a throng of guests, was that of Miss Ellen Matiste, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Matiste of the Hamilton apartments, and Seth Daugherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Daugherty of the Mt. Jackson road, when they were united in marriage at an impressive nuptial high mass at 9:30 o'clock.

Rev. Fr. William Galvin celebrated with the double ring service, before the beautifully embanked and candle lighted altar. Appropriate wedding music was provided by the church organist, Frank Gribbon, preceding and during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a sea green herringbone suit, tailored along smart lines, made street length with smart linings in "poudre" blue. Her shoulder bouquet was of white gardenias and her only jewelry was a solid gold cross, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Betty Eckelberger as maid of honor, wore a waterfall blue street length suit, with accompaniments in pink. Her shoulder corsage of pink roses completed her ensemble.

Gerald Schooley served as best man, while ushering were Walter R. Norman of Trenton, N. J., a cousin of the bride, and Wilbur Spigler of this city.

Following a congratulatory period, a wedding reception was held at The Leslie for guests numbering 50.

Of interest is the fact that four generations were represented at the wedding, including Mrs. Thomas Kelly, Mrs. Euphemia Campbell and Walter Norman of Trenton, N. J., and Jacqueline Matiste of this city.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., Virginia and other points south and upon returning will reside in the Pearson apartment at Valley Forge.

The bride, a graduate of New Castle High, is an operator at the Bell Telephone company, and the bridegroom, who graduated from Mt. Jackson High, is connected with the firm of the Lingerhight Dairy of this city.

Out of town guests were Miss Euphemia Campbell, Walter Norman and Mrs. Thomas Kelly, all of Trenton, N. J.

WAR'S RECKONING

THIS nation along with others is taking the war cost in a sort of "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof" spirit. But there can be little doubt that a terrific reckoning is coming to the world in the balancing of the current profligacy.

No one knows exactly what the war is costing but all computations are staggering. The outlay is running heavily in excess of World War figures, even though there are not nearly so many men in the field and military campaigns have not been on such a wide scale.

This is due to the fact that more men are needed in the factories to support the armies, navies and air forces, and because the implements of war are far more costly. The instrument panel of a modern bomber alone costs more than an entire World War plane. And the training of a bomber pilot costs something like $25,000.

Britain is spending annually more than $12,000,000,000, which is what the most expensive year of the World War—1917—cost her. Germany is spending fully as much, as is Russia, though only in the status of watchful waiting. Italy and Japan are laying out $3,000,000,000 or $4,000,000,000 each this year. The United States is now on an expenditure basis of $8,000,000,000 or $9,000,000,000 a year for defense and aid to belligerents, but the figure is going higher.

It all adds up to a considerably higher bill than the last war, even though commodity prices are lower today. And when the economic results of the other war are remembered it is plain why people do not want to borrow trouble from tomorrow by speculating on the plight humankind will be in following this holocaust.

WORDS THAT PERSIST

History delights in identifying its characters by striking phrases. They are stored up in the memories of individuals and always on tap.

The confession about the chopped-down cherry tree by the youthful Washington, Nathan Hale's "only regret," Farragut's contempt for the menacing torpedoes, Patrick Henry's great alternative—these live in vivid words in the minds of the American schoolboy; yes, and of his grandfather. Such tags enliven the school histories of every land—Mohammed and the mountain and the word engraved on Bloody Mary's heart are classic instances.

To a German who has just died a phrase has persistently clung through the years. In 1919 Hermann Kriebel, member of the German general staff in the World War, was still, at 43, dashing enough amid the gloom to bid farewell to the non-German members of the Armistice Commission with the taunt: "See you again in 20 years!"

And as Germany reared for a repetition of "Der Tag," the words were not permitted to die. At the end Kriebel, who did his own best to make his prophecy come true, was head of the personnel department of the German foreign office.

He was a participant with Hitler in the Munich beer cellar putsch and with the latter served a prison sentence. He lived to see Germany dictate armistice terms to France last July, but not to Britain, though he was not a member of the armistice commission. But the war goes on.

Kriebel's words are enshrined in German minds and probably always evoked when sentimental visits are paid to the old palace dining car, wherein the terms of both armistices were signed, now removed to Berlin as an historic relic. Fate could have no greater irony than if later armistice terms between Britain and Hitler should be dictated by Winston Churchill in that same car, now on German soil, and Hitler be made to eat the words of his cohort.

SOME BOOM TOWN PROBLEMS

The Council of Democracy urging community planning for production, employment and allied problems as an essential to the defense program also took occasion to warn our communities against "booms that boomerang."

This warning, which is always in order whenever there is an inflation of production is now doubly timely as we may see if we read of the growth of mushroom communities all over the country owing to the sudden development of the so-called industries.

The "boom" for various reasons is coming to life in various parts of the country. Aircraft and other munitions plants are springing up, almost like mushrooms. Nearly every state has, or will have its boom towns in the near future.

But boom towns now mean boomerang boom problems in the future. This defense and war boom will not keep up forever. Senator Willis, of Indiana, sensibly said the other day, that whether or not we believe war is inevitable, there is no question but that peace is inevitable. War will not go on forever. At the rate at which the armies and navies perform now war cannot last as long as it did in the good old horse and buggy days.

When the post war deflation comes there will be some real problems. Cities and towns which are about to spring into prominence as war munitions producing centers, are going to take an awful beating. Some of them will limp along and survive because they have other industries to carry them along while others will fold up, dry up and blow away.

Deflation follows inflation as inevitably as winter follows summer. The Council for Democracy did well to warn against booms that will boomerang. Booms built on false prosperity have a habit of boomeranging. The entire nation as well as the cities and towns directly affected should be thinking about this.

One of the greatest aids for acquiring good looks is a cheerful disposition.

When everybody gets on the receiving end of social security who is going to carry the ball?

German soldiers are being trained in hothouses at temperatures of 104 degrees for the war in Africa. Britain may make it even hotter than that for them.

When engineers go out from Washington to survey some of the western rivers for the purpose of flood control and power projects, one of the most difficult tasks they frequently have is to find the rivers.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

PRaise CHILD FOR SUCCESSSES

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am the mother of a 17-month-old boy. Just about two months ago I was at my wit's end and about to write you for help, but instead sat down and talked things over with myself and so solved my own problem.

"Tonight I am writing after reading your reply to a woman who has a little girl of 1 year and 8 months who is in the squealing period. Her problem is exactly the same as the one I was having at that time, especially the part on trying to bring the child into the house. How he did kick and hit me. Heavens, I felt like joining right in and squealing with him. I was so upset, and for a week I tried spanking him. I only found this to make matters worse, and he disobeyed me even more. It was then I realized I had to be calm and resolved never again to spank him to get him to do things for me.

"Instead, as we neared home, I began speaking of what we were going to do when we got there. If it was supper time, I'd tell him we would eat then play ball. If it was bed time, I would tell him he was going to get his nice bath. That worked wonders and he was always eager to go into the house, and still is.

Praise The Baby

"Another thing, I hear so many mothers say they have to struggle to wash their baby's hair or face; and cleaning their ears and nose is almost impossible. I am very happy to relate, I have never had any trouble as I have always made a game of all these things, and include my husband when he is here. I praise the boy and tell him how big he is and let him see how pretty he is when I've finished.

"We had to take him to an eye specialist this week, and he was so good about everything. In giving him the eye drops, which we had to do for three days previous, he disliked it, but for each drop we gave him a piece of chocolate, so he would run to the couch and wait for them when we called. During the examination he sat perfectly quiet on my lap and turned his head just as he was told. He does have to wear glasses and even then he is grand. He puts them on and leaves them on and did so from the start, as again I told him he was a big boy.

Affection Best

"In other words, I have found that the secret of raising a child with the least difficulty is by affection and praise, making attractive what you want the child to do. Thanks for all the good work you have done and are doing, and for the help you give so many people daily, including myself."

This mother has found that good principles work. While she may find it desirable to spank that child for a few things he must never do, as playing in the fire, or running into the street unprotected, she avoided the use of punishment even to prevent squealing. You see the reason pain so rarely stops squealing and crying is that they normally follow pain. These items get mixed up. And yet some fathers will make a lot of fuss by spanking him and then spank him again to try to make him stop crying.

Recently I observed a little girl for several days who was not spanked once all that time, nor did she seem to need it. She had been spanked a few times some weeks and months before to make her avoid permanently a few forbidden things. Since then she was happy because her parents know how to guide her skillfully, win her cooperation, celebrate her successes.

"We had to take him to an eye specialist this week, and he was so good about everything. In giving him the eye drops, which we had to do for three days previous, he disliked it, but for each drop we gave him a piece of chocolate, so he would run to the couch and wait for them when we called. HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:47. Sun rises tomorrow 6:37.

An Angola, Ind., man who conceived the idea of organizing the "Screw Balls" of his town into a club, has received applications for charters from 110 different cities. As the old saying used to go, "the squirrels haven't gotten them all yet."

NONBLOOMING PLANT

Spending the night in an Amarillo, Texas, hotel, a young woman tourist who, it was learned later, had two eastern college degrees, engaged the desk clerk in conversation.

"What have you that is of unusual interest in your city?" she asked.

"Well," he replied, "we have the only helium plant in the world for one thing."

"Really," she remarked, interestedly, "and is it in bloom now?"

Britain's war aim in one word: Survive.

A survey shows that 66 out of every 100 men have left legs shorter than their right legs. That's what comes of kicking so much.

A Levistown, Me., man claims that nine out of ten women do not know how to boil an egg. He says that a majority of women drop the egg into boiling water, and leave it there for a few minutes. This makes the egg virtually indigestible. The proper way, he asserts, is to place the egg in lukewarm water and let the water come to a boil slowly. How about it, gals?

Wilson: "Too proud to fight." President Hutchins: "Too morally unfit to fight."

To be at peace with God, one must be at war with evil things that oppose Him.

Hitler says Germans "have no quarrel with the American people." What quarrel did they have with Holland?

Answer: Yours is a chronic reminder that I receive from all points of the compass. Some day I think I shall publish a line of playing cards captioned with such mottoes as these: "Only a boor accuses his partner of poor play or poor bidding in the event you go down."

"Even if you know your partner is at fault and even if she admits her mistakes, be polite enough to suggest that your support was probably insufficient. The one responsible for the poor bid is punished sufficiently when he takes his partner down to defeat. Among real card players, recriminating postmortems are outlawed and those who persist in creating angry scenes find themselves mysteriously dropped from future games."

If you wish to become a good bridge player, take some lessons from a bona fide teacher, (at a nominal fee). Buy a good book of rules for beginners compiled by one of the experts. Contract bridge is a scientific game, to excel at which you must know the rules.

Question: Please tell me which of these is correct for business cards: Mary Jane Brown or Miss Mary Jane Brown?—E. B.

Answer: Miss Mary Jane Brown for both business and personal calling cards.

Question: When walking along the street with my fiancée, should I take his arm or have him take mine?—Mary.

Answer: Neither. You should not link arms while walking along the street. When you walk on dangerous paving, a slippery surface or a badly-lit street, your fiancée should offer his arm to protect you against tripping or falling.

When you cross the street, your fiancée might, if you require assistance, offer his arm to you. He should not take you by the elbow. The woman who clings to a man gives the impression of being overly possessive and of being afraid of losing her man if she lets go of him.

Japanese Politeness Cause Of Suspicion
American Warned To Get Out Of Far East
Women And Children Leaving War Area

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The more polite the Japanese are, the more suspicious of 'em are all Occidentals of experience with Jap psychology.

And, as remarked the other day, the Tokyo government of late has become extremely polite indeed in its diplomatic relationship with Washington. On the strength of this development, Washington has warned Americans in the Far East to get out of that part of the world as fast as possible unless they have the most urgent reasons for remaining there. Our naval personnel, Marines and ambassadorial and consular staffs do have urgent reasons for staying on their jobs, but members of their families are being brought home as fast as ships are available to turn them.

Tokio has carried abnormally polite to the British also. Consistently Australia's and New Zealand's governments have advised their folk to be prepared for almost anything unpleasant on the shortest kind of notice.

There's nothing inconsistent about it.

The Japs notoriously want to gobble up all of Britain's and France's southern Asiatic mainland footholds and the Dutch East Indies. With the home Netherlands completely under Hitler's thumb, France flat on its back and England fully preoccupied in its own immediate vicinity, now evidently seems to 'em to be an ideal time to do their gobbling.

Faith Accompli

If they can, however, they naturally would like to do it in comparative peace and comfort, for themselves. They're anxious not to antagonize the United States if they can avoid doing so. That is, they're anxious not to do so until their grab bags "faith accompli"—accomplished facts in plain English. Later, after the faith really are accomplished, they probably won't care so much. But while they're doing the accomplishing, they're afraid.

Charges President Would Never Surrender Power Under Lease-Lend Bill

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The senate on Tuesday heard a former member of the Farm-Labor party charge that if the lease-lend bill is enacted President Roosevelt will never surrender the powers it would confer on him, while a Republican and a Democrat joined in urging passage, arguing that British survival is essential to American defense.

Sen. Shipstead, a tall, gray-haired Minnesotan who left the Farm-Labor party last year to win re-election as a Republican, flayed the measure as certain to lead the United States into war and dictatorship. Countering, Sen. Murray (D) Mont., told the senate that "there can be no peace for our country if Hitler wins," while Sen. Barbour (R) N. J., denied Shipstead's contention that the measure would make Mr. Roosevelt a dictator.

Will Be Dictatorial

Shipstead in his speech forecast catastrophe for America in the bill's policy, charging that Mr. Roosevelt has become impatient with "the evolutionary processes of constitutional government."

While the bill would expire June 30, 1943, this curb means nothing, Shipstead said. Hitler, he said, rose to power through just such an original limited grant of emergency authority.

The government's policy, including the lease lend program, will impose such financial burdens on the people that it would mean financial collapse to choke off powers suddenly, Shipstead declared.

"Does anyone suppose that in such a situation that the executive branch of the government will for one instance relinquish the powers that this bill confers upon it?" Shipstead asked.

No regime imaginable would fail to fight desperately to retain all its powers, so as to be able to throttle discontented criticism by a people goaded to the verge of revolutionary taxation."

Wage Undeclared War

The measure gives the president authority to wage undeclared war throughout the world, Shipstead declared. He denied that Britain is America's first line of defense. The senator dwelt at great length at the vast power carried in the bill.

"Franklin Delano Roosevelt is as strong and as weak as other rulers who have become impatient with the evolutionary processes of constitutional government, and who, if I may paraphrase a striking method of speech given us by distinguished colleague, Sen. Johnson of California, demand that they be entrusted with the 'thunderbolt of job' to be hurled where and when the brain of one man suggests that a good cause should be advanced or a bad cause should be destroyed," said Shipstead.

Insensate Tyrants

He recalled the history of the Roman empire and the explanation of historians of why men who are wise and considerate when they had limited authority become "insensate tyrants" when clothed with vast power.

"In the light of history, no sane man would aspire to such power," Shipstead declared. "He would instinctively question his ability to direct it."

"Obviously, no insane man should be given such power by an indifferent or servile legislature unless those who make the grant are willing to repeat the frightful tragedies which mark the advance of the human race from barbarism to civilization."

ly prefer not to have their attention distracted from the job, as it certainly would be if they got into war with us prematurely.

Germany, to be sure, wants Japan to become involved with us today or tomorrow or the next day, at the latest, since it couldn't baffle us in helping Britain. Japs, though, think of their own interest ahead of their Axis partners, and their game's to stave off a clash with Uncle Samuel for the present. That's why they're so polite to him. They've hoped he'd be sucker enough to take their affability at face value. Apparently he isn't, to judge from our warning to our nationals in the Orient.

It's taken for granted that the Mikado has his eye on the Philippines, but the best guessing is that he won't try to swoop down there while they're under our flag—not unless a Jap-American war starts before the date for their independence, four years hence. Then it's considered very likely that he will. A good many Filipinos think so and don't want to be independent on that basis.

Well, why's Tokio polite to Britain? The fact is that it isn't particularly polite to London. As an Axis partner, it can't but be considered at war with the English islands. It serves the Mikado's purpose, however, to be as polite as circumstances permit to Australia and New Zealand.

His web program, it generally is agreed, provides these two dominions, in the long run. It includes India likewise. Jap statesmen have said so.

Distant Objectives

But Australia, New Zealand and India are rather distant objectives. And, as to Australia and New Zealand (India should be easy picking if Britain blows up), the United States can be staved off, those two might be rather bothersome to Nippon, if ugly before it gets fully around to attend to 'em. Therefore, Tokio's polite to 'em and it scares 'em like everything. They are in Japan's pretty near neighborhood and quite understand what Japanese politeness signifies.

So do the Filipinos. The Muscovites, as traditional enemies of the Japs, might reasonably be expected to hop on the latter from the direction of Siberia, should Nippon get into a bad tangle to the southward and in the Pacific. This would be fine for us Occidentals and for the Chinese also.

To guard against it, Tokio is said to be framing up a treaty with Moscow.

Possibly it'll be effected. But if

No matter how intimate a friend you are of a family, don't comment unfavorably on any of the furnishings of their home. If you can't admire them, say nothing. Their taste may be different from yours, and then maybe they don't like the article either, but must make it do at least for the time.

More Troops Arrive At Indiantown Gap

Two Military Bands Have Also Arrived At Big State Camp

(International News Service)
INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Feb. 26.—Military life at Indiantown Gap was lifted from the humdrum and routine today with the arrival of additional troops and two military bands, whose martial music relieved the monotony at the cantonment.

Mild weather greeted the new arrivals—the 103rd Medical and 103rd Engineer regiments—as they detrained yesterday from motor trucks and railroad cars to enter the reservation that is to be their home for the next year.

The 103rd Engineers, a Philadelphia unit, arrived shortly before noon with four members suffering from slight bruises received when the train made an emergency stop at Wernersville, Berks county, to avoid hitting a dead man.

Companies B and H of the medical regiment, Wernersville and Canonsburg, also arrived yesterday.

While Sen. Ellender (D) La. said England "got the destroyers and we haven't got anything much yet," an authoritative source in the capital disclosed that the United States government thinks it is high time that Britain stepped under way in London and put a stop to the demands of colonialists for big prices for their land.

This source disclosed that:

1. British colonialists are attempting to obtain exorbitant prices for lands and buildings on them.

2. British authorities on the islands are demanding the right to retain jurisdiction over U. S. air and naval bases established there—a step to which American naval and army authorities are unalterably opposed.

3. British colonialists are raising so-called "petty" questions delaying the London negotiations.

Surprise Reinforcements Give Britain Firmer Grip On Singapore

Great Britain's "Gibraltar of the East," the strongly fortified island of Singapore, is now reinforced by several thousand Aussies after a surprise move by Great Britain to shift the balance of power in this area away from Japan, whose threatening gestures precipitated the move. The Aussies arrived with the latest in mechanical equipment, including large-caliber anti-aircraft guns, seen at upper left. In addition, it is reported from general headquarters in Singapore that the British flying force has received powerful reinforcements of modern bombers typical of those pictured above. At the lower right is seen the vital causeway connecting Singapore with Malay peninsula, now one of the most heavily guarded roads in the world. Portion of map in circle shows likely sphere of Japanese military influence in the Far East if the British should lose their position at Singapore.

Wilkinson Given To March 3 To Make Reply To Charges

Presley Jones Is Seeking Ouster Of Wilkinson From State Legislature

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 26—Rep. Don Wilkinson, Republican, of Luzerne, has been given until March 3 to file a rebuttal to a bill of particulars placed in the hands of a house subcommittee which is investigating his conduct. Rep. Presley N. Jones, (D) Lawrence, today disclosed. Jones is seeking his colleague's ouster from the house for alleged "improper conduct." Wilkinson has denied the charge.

Jones said that along with the bill of particulars he had given the judiciary general subcommittee of five which is studying his ouster resolution "excerpts of affidavits and other proof of the truth of my charges."

After receipt of Wilkinson's reply the house subcommittee, which is headed by Rep. Homer S. Brown, (D) Allegheny, will decide whether the ouster resolution warrant further proceedings, in the event it does, a public hearing will then be held.

The ouster resolution accused Wilkinson of "intent . . . to derive a private pecuniary profit for himself" through the introduction in the 1939 legislature of "an act defining the rights, powers and duties of county tax collectors." Wilkinson operates a delinquent tax collection service in several counties.

To an attack made earlier upon him by Rep. Arthur P. Brethrick, (R) Delaware, and released by the Republican state committee, Jones replied:

"The abortive attacks of Mr. Brethrick and the Republican state committee will be answered."

Brethrick praised his Republican colleague as a conscientious and honest legislator.

The slogan adopted is, "One nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Special music will be offered by a quartet composed of Ruth E. Drescher, soprano, Andrew DiLorenzo, tenor, Mrs. W. P. Feich, contralto, and Abe Levine, bass and director, with Mrs. W. L. Cosel as organist. The services are public and there will be no collections or solicitations of any kind.

PLASTIC SURGERY PROVES BLESSING FOR DEFORM- ED CHILDREN

We continually hear about the marvelous operations plastic surgeons are performing in our hospitals. People have whole sections of their faces replaced after some serious accident has disfigured them. Prize-fighters get new, straight noses to replace their broken bones; wrestlers have their cauliflower ears remodeled.

We seldom, however, hear about a branch of plastic surgery that is certainly as important as it is spectacular. I refer to the work done by plastic surgeons with infants and small children. For instance, if a child is born with a deformity of some kind, and if he is allowed to grow up with this defect, it will leave a deep psychological mark on his personality. It will give him a feeling of inferiority.

Children are sometimes thoughtless and cruel to one another. If a child has a deformity when he starts to school, it is altogether likely his playmates will tease him about it. They may even give him a nickname that calls immediate attention to his imperfection.

I remember myself a youngster who had lop ears. He was promptly christened "Lugs" and never was known by any other name. You can see what a blessing it would be for such a child to have his deformity fixed before he starts to school, before others start to tease him, before he himself really is aware that he differs from the children with whom he plays.

Of course, if you have a deformed child, don't rush into plastic surgery without a good deal of thought on the matter. Consult your physician and be guided by what he says. The most important thing to do is to make absolutely certain that you have a really competent plastic surgeon. Be sure he is up-to-date in his methods, because technique that was quite the thing a few years ago has fallen into disuse in many cases.

Facial birthmarks are often unsightly, and today these can be removed with hardly any difficulty whatever. Hare-lip is another deformity which can cause a person great anguish all through life, yet it isn't a difficult operation to correct. Cleft palate is another deformity for which there is no excuse once a child is old enough for the operation.

Some of these deformities are congenital—that is, the child was born with them; others may be acquired after birth. In either case, modern surgery can usually remove them and leave a normal child.

Senatus Romanus Has School Session

Initiation Ceremony At High School For New Members
Of Organization

Senatus Romanus, the honorary club of the Latin department at the senior high school, held its first meeting of the semester Tuesday evening in the music room. In the absence of the new consul prima, Mary Jane McGinty, Guy Gribble as consul secundus presided. The other officers are the same as they were last semester: Jean Cameron is the scribe and Stanley Yakowicz is quaestor.

The chief business of the evening was an impressive initiation ceremony for candidates who had recently qualified for membership at the "honors" finals in their Latin classes. Those initiated were: From the George Washington Junior-Senior High school, cumma cum laude, Robert Calvin; magna cum laude, Robert Vogan, and Harry Thompson, cum laude; from the senior high school, summa cum laude, Margaret Clement; magna cum laude, Kathleen Angelillo; cum laude, Marjorie Markles and Edward Joseph. Dorothy Devlin was elected to the group of conscripti (honorary) members of the club and was also initiated at this time.

The able committee for the initiation ceremonies was composed of Anita Sacco, Suzanne Shannon and Fred Rentz, Jr.

At this meeting the Cicero honor pin was granted to Roberta Street for outstanding excellence in the year of Latin study which makes the orations of the great Roman statesman the basis of its study. The possession of this pin makes the owner a member of the Junior Classical League, a national honorary society of high school Latin students.

Buick SPECIAL Convertible Coupe
with Press-A-Button
Automatic Top, $1138*

We mean these Four New Additions to the Buick SPECIAL Series that Give you Big-Car Thrill in less Curbside Space

THE way cars have been stretching out lately, it usually takes only a couple of cars to occupy the curb space of an extension-ladder fire truck.

Not so with the newest additions to the 1941 Buick line.

Here we've reversed the trend—just to prove that an honest-to-golly BIG car can be built without going overboard on bumper-to-bumper distance.

The four new models now adorning the Buick SPECIAL Series fit neatly into modest garages without putting a permanent crimp in the doors.

They slip into parking places smoothly as a rowboat nestles up to a dock—and the way they flit through traffic is a delight to wheel-weary drivers.

When it comes to action—well, they've got a 115-hp. FIREBALL eight under their bonnets that skims you down the road like a mallard heading home. You can add Compound Carburetion at small extra cost and have 125 horsepower that does things we hardly dare hint about in print.

But they're a handy six inches shorter, bumper to bumper, than other Buicks—a quartet of top-quality cars in an easily-handled size that hasn't known such merit before.

The price? It's lower too. So better take a look—it'll be the first time you've ever seen a really BIG car wrapped up in this bumper-to-bumper distance.

Devise Novel Way To Raise Money At Christian Church

H. G. Boyd Builds Model Of Present Building And Proposed Addition

Harry G. Boyd, chairman of the building committee for the Madison Avenue Christian church, has devised a novel way to raise money for the church. Mr. Boyd is quite talented with woodworking tools and has made a model of the Christian church, complete with the proposed $10,000 addition.

The model is complete in all respects, being outfitted with pews, a pulpit, communion table and chairs, a bulletin board, interior doors, carpet, pianos, electric lights, and the like.

Mr. Boyd has constructed the model on a large platform which conforms, in scale, to the size of the church lawn. Frosted glass has been installed in the doors and windows and small hinges make the doors work.

On the roof are imitation shingles, making the job complete. The roof is so arranged that sections may be opened to display the interior of the building.

A campaign has been launched to sell the building, piece by piece, to raise money. There are 274 shingles and they are to be sold at twenty-five cents each. When a person buys a shingle, a paper sticker containing his name is attached over the shingle.

The plan is being extended to the doors and windows and even to the furniture with "reasonable prices" being placed on each article.

At the rear of the church, Mr. Boyd has constructed a brick-red chimney. The chimney has a lock on the bottom and a slot at the top where money for the building is deposited.

The model structure will be taken to the Madison Avenue church on Thursday evening, and it will remain there indefinitely. It will be displayed at the regular service on Sunday morning.

Scout Program Friday Night

Final plans for the Boy Scout program at the Mahoning Methodist church Friday evening were worked out at a meeting of Beaver patrol members, held Tuesday.

Mothers of the patrol members are on the general committee for the affair and they will be in charge of the refreshments.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Plans for the new addition to the Madison Avenue Christian church call for an entrance on Ashland avenue and another entrance on West Madison avenue.

Many persons make a habit of parking on the wrong side of North Liberty street. This is a dangerous practice, and an accident was caused by just such a parker recently.

Members of the Mahoningtown Young People's Chorus are working hard on another concert program, to be presented in the near future. Miss Violet Shuler is director of this group.

Quite a number of Mahoningtown residents are pensioned from the district's railroad. These men were the pioneers in the railroad business and have grown up with the now elaborate systems.

Medical Motion Picture Will Be Shown Thursday

On Thursday evening a medical motion picture will be shown to members of the Christopher Columbus Auxiliary and friends in the Christopher Columbus hall, North Liberty street, at 8 o'clock.

China Is Theme Of Interesting Meeting Of Wurttemberg Group

Curious And Costumes Feature All-Day Session For Methodist Women

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 26.—"China" was the theme of a most interesting and unusual meeting held on Tuesday at the Wurttemberg Methodist church by members of the Women's society of Christian Service.

A study book, "Dangerous Opportunities," was excellently reviewed by Mrs. Thomas Riney after which an illustrated lecture on Chinese customs was given by Miss Mary Johnson. During her talk, she showed out watermelon seeds, which, she said, are great delicacies for the Chinese. Many curios were on display and during her talk Mrs. William Clyde, Mrs. Jesse Kocher, Mrs. Eric Ostling, Miss Elizabeth Musselman and Jerry Boots appeared in Chinese costumes, the purpose and uses of which were explained by Miss Johnson, who was formerly a missionary to that country.

In keeping with the theme a chop suey lunch was served at noon and it was "partially" eaten with chopsticks which were presented as souvenirs to each member by Miss Johnson.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Lizzie Boots and music was played by Mrs. Mary Graham. A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. A. J. Musselman with the March meeting for Tuesday, the 26th, was planned with the subject to be "Minority Groups—Inter-Racial Cooperation." Group 4 will have charge of the devotions and Group 3 will serve the lunch.

The fine meeting closed with an attention-holding review of the book, "China," given by Mrs. Grace Ketterer.

It was announced that Groups 3 and 4 will meet jointly on Thursday of this week at the church to quilt.

Talks On Lent Given At Sodality Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 26.—Fifty-five members of the Young Ladies Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary church gathered last night at the church for the bi-weekly meeting.

After singing "Mother Beloved," with Miss Amelia Baccardi as accompanist, Rev. J. Gallie and Sister Mary gave talks on the holy season of Lent.

Miss Marian Sirriani was appointed as secretary to replace Miss Mary Morgan, who resigned.

Business was directed by Miss Emma Locisano, president, and plans were made to attend the 8 o'clock mass on Sunday in a body. A business meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 11.

Old Timers To Battle Tonight

Ellwood Old Timers To Oppose New Brighton Old Timers At Shelby, Socials Win

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Feb. 26.—The basketball fans of this city are anxiously awaiting the battle of the century tonight when the much-talked about Ellwood City and New Brighton Old Timers game will be played at Shelby floor at 7:30 o'clock.

The Old Timers should provide a lot of merriment as they struggle for breath and show the fans how they used to do it years ago.

George Patterson will coach the Old Timers, the roster of which contains the names of many well known former Ellwood City High and Shelby basketball stars—George Patterson, Butler Hennon, Ferrucci, John Ursu, Boone, Les Clyde, Joe Lattano, Phil Blandine, Joe Reilly, Spurgeon Elder, Paul Cartwright, McKinney, Gardner, Jim and Frank Fitzgerald, Stasick, Merit Book, Sing McDonald, Joe Smith, McMurdo, Januzze, Charles Mayne, Tom Barnes, DeTullio and Salerno.

New Brighton will bring a team here with Bill Fields, former high school star, at the helm and determined to upset the Ellwood Old Timers at all possible, which the locals say can't be done.

New Castle High Defeats Ellwood

Blue And White End Season With 54 To 23 Defeat Last Night At Lincoln Court

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 26.—On the short end of a 54 to 23 lopsided score Ellwood City high school basketball team ended its 1940-41 season last night at Lincoln court with the defeat being effectively administered by New Castle high school. There was only a fair attendance at the game.

Set shots by Lee, New Castle forward, were the game's feature and he made nine of them count and with a free shot scored a total of 19 points. Ross, Lee's running mate, accounted for 14 more of the winners' total points. Matrangoli, with seven, scored the most points for Ellwood.

It marked the final game for Matrangoli, Seeth and Matrangoli and they received great ovations as they left the floor.

In a way making up for their defeat of the varsity team, the Ellwood Reserves shelled the New Castle Reserves 31 to 9 in the preliminary game. New Castle made only one basket and gained the other seven points from fouls. Clark and Hough, each with eight points, led the local scoring.

Navy Only Got Right To Build New Naval Bases

Apparently U. S. Now Has To Purchase Sites For Naval Bases

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Rear Admiral Ben Morell on Tuesday told the senate naval affairs committee it would cost $116,000,000 for the navy alone to establish its bases on the British islands in the Atlantic.

He made the statement at hearings on the house-approved $242,373,500 navy expansion bill to rush improvements on a string of naval and air bases stretching from Newfoundland in the Atlantic, through the canal zone and out to Guam in the Pacific, only 1,500 miles from Japan.

Admiral Morell said that the destroyer trade with England gave the navy only the right to establish bases and not title to the land. Sen. Ellender (D) La., a member of the committee interrupted.

"Is there any reason why the American people shouldn't be told about the acquisition? I was under the impression that every congressman and senator in Washington was under the same impression, that we got outright title to the land when we gave England fifty ships. Now it turns out we didn't. The English have the boats and we don't have anything."

Adm. Morell said negotiations for title were now under way in London and that he would prefer to discuss it in a secret session. Sen. Walsh (D) Mass., then ordered a closed hearing.

Sen. Ellender also asked about the nature of the terrain on the British islands, apparently because of reports some of the territory being acquired was swamp land. Morell said he would reply in the secret session.

INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

DEDUCTION FOR TAX ON MOTOR GAS

If an automobile is used for both business and pleasure, those maintenance and operating expenses which constitute allowable deductions for Federal income-tax purposes should be allocated to the two uses on the basis of the time the car is used for each. For example, if the total expense of operation and maintenance, plus depreciation, for the taxable year amounted to $800, and the car was used three-fourths of the time for business and the balance of the time for pleasure, the allowable deduction for Federal income-tax purposes, would be $600.

In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed and by whom they are paid. If a law imposing a tax on gasoline by its terms imposes the tax on the consumer and not on the dealer, the consumer may deduct as a tax for Federal income-tax purposes, the amount of the gasoline tax paid by him; but the taxpayer must have kept records of the payment of such taxes in order that the deduction may be substantiated as is required by the regulations. The Federal gasoline tax is not deductible by the consumer. The taxpayer may ascertain whether a state gasoline tax is deductible by the consumer or by the dealer by addressing an inquiry to the collector of internal revenue for his district.

In any case where the gasoline purchased is used for business purposes, the tax may be regarded as a tax for the cost of the gasoline and deducted as a business expense, but in such case the gasoline tax cannot be deducted separately as a tax under the item of taxes.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Many parents boast their child is "a fine little man."

A child should be a child—not a miniature adult.

Being a child is all part of natural growth.

A child should be permitted to be a child while he is one.

The unhappiest child is one whose parents want him different. They dress him differently, cut his hair differently.

This sort of personality surgery may scar a child for life.

Attempts to create an improved variety of child are cruel.

Parents should not forget their own childhood.

A child's mental health depends on living a normal, child's life.

It is perfectly normal to be a boy.

It is not normal to be a "fine little man."

"Lease-Lend" Bill Is War Bill Says Landon

(International News Service)
LAWRENCE, Kansas, Feb. 26.—Alfred M. Landon left with the idea of a strong appeal for defeat of the pending lend-lease bill, which he depicted as "the most dangerous proposal ever brought before the congress of the United States."

Landon's appeal was made in a nationally broadcast address from Lawrence, and it was aimed, he said, at "other plain, ordinary Americans." He went on:

"I am asking you to do what you can, as I am doing what I can, to defeat HR 1776. The so-called lend and lease bill now facing action in the United States senate."

"The lease and lend bill is being sold to the United States and being passed through congress on false premises. Every poll shows that the American people do not understand the war issues and the old defense articles." "And this bill," he said, "defines defense articles so broadly that they include everything from battleships and airplanes to potatoes and clothespins. That is the reason I say this is a dictatorship bill. It gives one man, the president, the authority to conduct the foreign affairs of the nation entirely by himself, on his own, without the advice and consent of the senate."

The 1940 Census questions were printed in Braille—the raised letter text for the blind—so that occupants of blind and deaf and dumb institutions could respond.

Although the tea plant has many leaves, only the tender bud and top three to five leaves are picked for use in the manufacture of the product. This is because they are the tenderest and contain the best flavor.

BUGGY STOLEN

Sheriff William J. Ennis, San Jose, Calif., was called upon to perform a new duty for his department when he was informed by Peter Suma that his buggy--not an auto--had been stolen. It was the first time the theft of an old-time buggy had been reported within the memory of the department.

SAYS SCHOOL OF SABOTEURS EXISTS IN THIS COUNTRY

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Feb. 26--Declaring that a school of "dynamiters, saboteurs and fifth columnists" exists in this country, Wayne L. Lasterman, Federal Bureau of Investigation chief in Cleveland, recently warned that the job of tracking down spies is not one for the ordinary citizen.

Addressing 1,000 retail and wholesale grocers, the agent said: "In this school they are taught to make incendiary bombs no bigger than a pencil. Citizens should be alert to observe all things and report anything unusual or suspicious to the nearest FBI office."

Some Pressure On Steel Shares

Slight Changes In Stock Prices During Morning Trading

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Pressure on the steel shares upset the stock market today after the rise of the four preceding sessions.

Bethlehem was the weakest of the steels, losing over a point after starting higher. U. S. Steel lost a large fraction. Crucible slipped also.

Douglas lost most of a point rise, and Boeing eased. American Airlines was up a point.

Chrysler lost ground after gaining almost a point. General Motors was easy from the start.

Alchison, Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific were down in the rails.

Anaconda was backward in an otherwise firm market for copper shares. Westinghouse was lower.

Mail orders and rubbers were quiet and steady. Texas Corp. was up slightly in the oils.

Legion Men Hear Pittsburgh Man

Rev. Robert Laing, Of Pittsburgh, Speaks On Un-American Activities

BANQUET PLANS GOING FORWARD

Members of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion heard Rev. Robert Laing, pastor of the Northside Methodist church of Pittsburgh, a veteran of the British Expeditionary Forces during the World War at its meeting in the Legion Home last evening.

Rev. Laing served with the famous Black Watch Regiment during the days of 1914-1918, and is a speaker of more than ordinary ability.

The post voted to send the Junior Band to the state convention at Altoona next summer, where they will represent the post in the closing day's parade.

The post voted to award prizes of $10 and $5 to the students making the highest grade in the Citizenship classes which will be conducted in the schools here during the month of March, under the sponsorship of the N.Y.A.

The post also voted a contribution of $25 towards the purchase of the Mobile Kitchen Unit being purchased by the Lawrence County chapter of the British War Relief Society.

General Chairman Chester C. Sweezy announced that plans for the National Commander's banquet are going forward nicely, and that a record attendance is looked for when National Commander Milo C. Warner appears here on April 1. Tickets have been placed in the hands of members of the post and are now available to the public.

A visitation of post members has been arranged for Thursday evening, March 6, to the Youngstown post, when the delegation will be accompanied by the Little American Band of the post.

Commander Walter G. Dietterle announced that the mobilization for Home Defense, which was started last week, will be continued each evening from 6:30 to 9:30 o'clock, during the current week. Quite a number who had not previously signed up, did so last evening.

Picket Lines In Dues Campaign At Gary Plants

(International News Service)
GARY, Ind., Feb. 26.—Sudden picketing of the huge Carnegie-Illinois tin and sheet metal mills in Gary was explained today by officials of the CIO steel workers organizing committee as a "union roundup."

Almost 1,000 unionists began picketing the mills last night and some 2,000 employees reporting for the night shift were stopped and asked to present union credentials. Those behind in their dues were permitted to pay up on the spot. If they could not, they were not passed through the picket line. Some new members also were signed.

While company officials declined to comment on the picketing, which continued today, a union spokesman said that 85 per cent of the plant's 9,000 employees are SWOC members, and that the union is the recognized bargaining agent for the factory. There was no estimate available as to how many men were prevented from working. The plant is engaged in production of armaments.

Severe Weather Affects Squirrels

On Tuesday one of the squirrels that frequents the back yards of homes on East Washington street, made its appearance after an absence of about a week, on account of the severe cold weather. The little animal did not wait for much coaxing by one of its wildlife friends, and soon bounded into the house and took a nut from her hand. The squirrel's head was somewhat roughed up, which Owen Fox thinks may have been caused in its attempt to bore through the ice to get some of the nuts it had hidden.

During the severe weather, these animals, after being fed well, can hibernate for three or four days at a time, generally in hollows of trees. Mr. Fox noticed Tuesday, at Gaston Park, that the squirrels took special care to keep in the trees, off the wet snow, by jumping from limb to limb, from there to smaller trees and brush on to the feeding station.

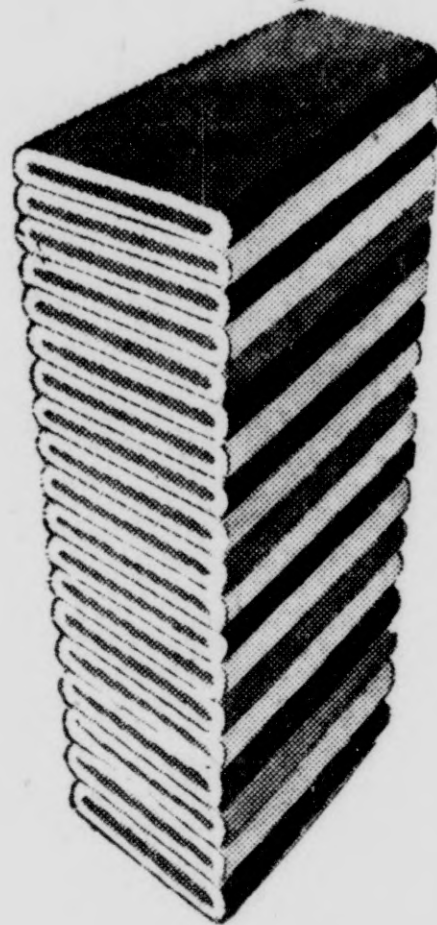

These animals are more particular in keeping their tails dry, than their feet. They do not like to have their bushy tail get in the snowy slush, because they depend on it to help keep them warm. Another reason is, should the tail become waterlogged, it would interfere with the animal's balance, in moving from tree to tree, and cause them to fall and get hurt.
